1. A Child Protection Policy For The International Entertainment Collective Ltd

- The International Entertainment Collective Ltd recognises the need to demonstrate to parents and to the wider community the importance we give to the child protection issue. We are committed to procedures and philosophies which have been developed to protect children themselves, but which also protect adults from misunderstandings and false accusations of abuse.
- In our work with children and young people, we respect and defend their individual rights.
- This means that we do not countenance any form of physical violence or abuse, whether committed by or inflicted upon either adults or young people.
- It also means that we do not countenance verbal insults or destructive criticism. The International Entertainment Collective Ltd encourages respect for others' background, appearance, personality, abilities, opinions or preferences. It means that adults must accept the responsibility to exercise due care in all activities, so that young people are not exposed to risk through adult negligence or incompetence.
- Child Protection requires good child-care and good group-work practice.

If a Disclosure or reference gives sufficient cause for doubt applicants will not be allowed to work with children or young persons.

4. Planning to Minimise Risk To Children

- The International Entertainment Collective Ltd activities are organised to reduce to a minimum those situations within which it may be possible for children to be abused.

The following guidelines are followed during all The International Entertainment Collective Ltd Activities:

- The International Entertainment Collective Ltd students will be appropriately supervised at all times. This may on occasion, involve parents remaining with children until this can be achieved.
- Adults should be discouraged from meeting individually with children outside The International Entertainment Collective Ltd activities
- It is important to know who the leaders are on all activities.
- Adults should not be alone with children away from other people.

- In exceptional circumstances where an adult may be alone with a child for a short period, the adult should ensure that other adults are aware of the situation and that they support this action.
- Groups should be aware of how they use premises for group activities. Most activities are based on group work, but if there is the need for an adult to work with an individual child, it is better that this is organised in clear view of the rest of the group.
- Adults should ensure that the touch and physical contact they use is not exploitative and is not open to misunderstanding. Children and young people should be encouraged to say what they find acceptable and unacceptable in the way they are approached by adults or their colleagues in the group.
- Confidential data that is collected on children including addresses, dietary needs, medical conditions etc. should be treated in confidence and with respect and should be shared between adults only on a need-to-know basis.
- Written reports are required for any significant incidents, and any such reports on serious incidents must be sent to The International Entertainment Collective Ltd Management.
- Tutors will ensure that workshop environments are safe.

5. Responding to Concern about Possible Abuse of a Child

- The International Entertainment Collective Ltd is not a children's counseling agency and adults working with The International Entertainment Collective Ltd should not be required to explore issues of abuse with children. However, it is possible that children and young people will take advantage of the trusting atmosphere during The International Entertainment Collective Ltd activities to disclose or describe abuse which is affecting them. Adults should be clear and honest in explaining that such information cannot be kept as a secret and that other agencies will have to be involved. It is sensible to keep individual notes which may seem to be relevant.
- If an abuse is disclosed or alleged which identifies an adult or another young person in The International Entertainment Collective Ltd as the alleged perpetrator, it is important that this is responded to quickly and seriously. A consultation with the local child protection services should be made in the first instance and then a report made The International Entertainment Collective Ltd Management.
- If the abuse seems to emanate from the young person's home, it is most important that an appropriate external agency is contacted and that the matter is not dealt with internally within The International Entertainment Collective Ltd.
